

Global Peacebuilding Center 2013

“The work you...do made me realize that achieving peace is entirely possible when you take small steps.”

“It only takes one person to start a pathway toward peace.”

“I realized that I knew tons more about violence, and war, than peace.”

“In the future, I will attempt to understand other points of view, talk things out and face conflict, because it can bring about positive change.”

“Young people have so much to offer for building peace because we are the leaders of the future.”

“This trip influenced me to promote peace because it showed me how much one person can do. I know that I can make a small difference.”

“It's important to be aware of what's going on in the world and to think about how you can start to make a difference, even when you're a kid.”
